“ Dear Walls Family,
I am so very sorry for your loss. My heart truly goes out to you. Please accept my heartfelt condolences. I know that there might not be anything I could personally say that would soothe the pain that you feel. But please know that God understands your pain and has provided not only comfort, but a sure hope for the future. Our loving Heavenly Father has promised to reunite us with our dead loved ones by means of a resurrection right here on earth in paradise conditions that will be filled with peace, happiness, and perfect health for everyone in the very near future. (John 5:28,29; Psalm 37:9-11,29; Isaiah 33:24) May this precious promise, along with loving memories of Ken, fill your heart with comfort and hope. Rest assured that God will do all that He has promised because it is impossible for Him to lie. (Hebrews 6:18) My deepest sympathy to you.

“ I am Karen Copeland's sister, like Karen, I also lost one of my sons at a young age, also a grandson (he was 5) and Max, of course, as my sister's son, was a loss also. I am so sorry to hear about Ken. I have no platitudes for you. I can tell you that if you can just get up in the morning for a few years, breathe, put one foot in front of the other and go on, time will help. I can't tell you when, but I will say, if you allow it to happen, the day will come when all that horrendous, unendurable pain will diminish and be replaced, truly, with good memories of him. I can honestly say, although it hasn't been often, I have laughed, remembering things he said or did and I am able, after ten years, to embrace his memory more often than I mourn his passing. Go to The Compassionate Friends a few times. It might be comforting. For a while, though, nothing will be. Just keep living. He would not want you to spend your life mourning for him. <http://www.compassionatefriends.org/home.aspx>

“ Your pain right now is almost more than you can bear. I know that. There's nothing that will make that ease but time. Remember though, that he is still very much alive. And will never leave you again. I love you, I grieve with you, and all my prayers are headed your way today, and forever.

“ I had the honor to serve with SGT Walls after he came home from Iraq at Camp Shelby once we became a Mobilization Site. Ken served with honor, pride, and dignity. He loved being a father, a soldier and a friend. He sustained injuries while serving in Iraq that he didn't discuss that much however, now I understand a lot more of why. He was a very smart and intelligent young man, he enjoyed his job, what he encountered in Iraq didn't stop him from getting in the way of doing his job however, I could tell he had his days. Even though I've never had the opportunity to meet his wife it really takes a very special woman to stand by her husband for when they are going through the ordeals of war. In this hard time of lose lets reminder our fallen comrade as an angel going to heaven and serving our Lord. Ken is still watching over his family he's just in heaven doing so. Rest in peace my battle buddy.

“ Dear Allyson & family and Mr.& Mrs. Walls: Ken was a courageous soldier who was there for all of us in Iraq. We will always remember him with great admiration and appreciation. Although we don't understand this loss, we can trust in Him who "heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds" Psalm 147:3. Our hearts and prayers are with you all. Love from Mike and Celeste
